"SINNERS"

Why do girls born and bred in small towns so often have a craving, a reaching out with both hands, an unquenchable longing to go to the big city? They leave home, mother, friends, pleasant surroundings and their associations to live in a tiny town, in a house only half clean, with easy prey to wicked men, who, like vultures, are ready to devour a girl's innocence and virtue; a few grow discouraged in this slow, grinding drudgery and though tempted to go the easiest way are halted in time by the thoughts of home and mother. Of these latter is Mary Horton, the

MANY ENROLLMENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL CLASSES AT Y. M. C. A.

This week is known as registration week in the educational department of the Y. M. C. A. So great is the popularity of the courses, however, that men have been registering for the various classes in the evening school for the past three weeks to make sure of getting their names on the roll book before the classes were filled.

The classes in the drafting department are among the most popular classes offered, the registration in some of them having been more than half completed last week. Both elementary and advanced instruction is given in architectural and mechanical drafting. George Wilcox, C. E., plant engineer at the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, will be in charge of the work in architectural drafting and plan reading for his fourth consecutive year.

Many practical men in the building trades are enrolled for this course, as well as students preparing to enter some school of architecture. James H. Bruffee, of 110 Cowles street, who studied under Mr. Wilcox last year, has entered Pratt Institute in Brooklyn this fall.

Theodore E. Brown, foreman of the machine room at the International Silver Co., will be the instructor in the first year mechanical drafting course. For seven years Mr. Brown has conducted this course with unqualified success. The work is based on that given in Pratt Institute, the text for those just beginning the work being compiled by Anson W. Smith of that institution.

The advanced course in Mechanical drafting is in charge of Carl T. Hewitt, M. E., of the U. M. C. Co. Mr. Hewitt is a graduate of the engineering department of Cornell University.

All classes in the drafting department will begin their work next week, as will also the Commercial course under Samuel W. Davis of the City Savings bank. Mr. Davis has been teaching rich and boys in the association evening school for the past ten or eleven years. His class takes up the study of bookkeeping, penmanship, commercial arithmetic and spelling.

E. E. Cortright, principal of the Shelton school, will meet his class in applied business English for their first session tomorrow night, this class starting a week earlier than the other courses.

Other classes soon to follow are:

HEROES OF CIVIL WAR GUESTS AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

Washington, Sept. 27.—The 49th annual reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic began here today with thousands of battle-scarred veterans of the civil war participating. The celebration which will continue for a week will be featured by a procession of the survivors of the conquering army from the capitol to the White House in commemoration of the grand review which marked the close of the Civil War.

Thirty thousand veterans are expected to participate in the review. President Wilson will review the procession from a grandstand in front of the White House where President Johnson stood in 1865 to view the conquering army of the north.

The capital is in gala attire. All public business houses along Pennsylvania avenue are draped in the national colors. Commander-in-chief Palmer was among today's arrivals.

The day's ceremonies began with the formal opening by Commander Palmer of Camp Emory, official headquarters of the re-united, established in the old census building, near the capitol and the welcoming by the commander and his staff of Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles, retired, who is to be the grand marshal of the parade next Wednesday. This was the only formal ceremony held, the day being devoted largely to the informal reception of incoming delegations.

The program for the afternoon called for a patriotic concert by the United States marine band at the pension building which is to be used as a branch headquarters.

Beginning tonight and continuing throughout the week the forts around Washington will be illuminated by Veterans' Signal Corps Association.

Twelve war vessels of the United States navy lay at anchor in the Potomac river here today for the inspection of the veterans. Naval officers will give daily demonstrations for the instruction of visitors.

Commission Form League Threatens To Name Own Ticket

The executive committee of the Commission Form of Government League will meet in the board of trade rooms, Newfield building at 8 o'clock tonight to discuss plans for the fall election. The members want to be assured that either of the parties will guarantee the appointment of a commission that will draft a commission form of government charter along the lines desired by the members of the league. Unless they can be assured that this will be done, members of the league may nominate an independent ticket pledged to name a commission whom the league will endorse.

There is also some question as to whether the power to name the commission lies with Mayor Wilson or his successor. After the meeting of the executive committee it may be decided to call a mass meeting of all the members to decide on the course of action that the league will take.

Lithuanians Will Vote on Proposed Commission Plan

An interesting discussion of the proposed change of Bridgeport's form of municipal government to the commission form was the feature of the regular meeting of the Bridgeport Lithuanian club in the city hall, 428 Main street yesterday.

Chief among the speakers was Joseph L. Dulbis, the president of the club. A resolution to endorse the plan was tabled, that the members might have further opportunity of discussion and study before putting the club on record.

Besides the political matters under discussion, there was a social session. About 50 members were present, and the discussion of several questions for membership received favorable action.

Rescues Four From Peril on Sand Reef

Lyman Butler, Indian Harbor, N. Y., Allan Leffert, Whitney C. Dail, of New York with J. W. Linen and J. M. Lund, of Bridgeport and Fairfield, were rescued from a rapidly filling yawl "The Sakana" which had been driven by the high wind from Peafield reef yesterday afternoon. J. G. Fletcher, superintendent of the Black Rock Yacht club, who saw their signals of distress put out to them in a catboat which he maneuvered alone. Those rescued felt no ill effect from their exposure and peril.

WILL REPORT ON PROTECTIVE HOME WORK FOR SUMMER

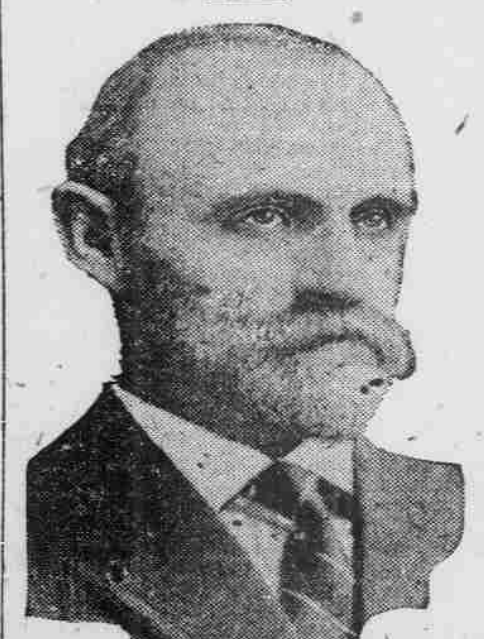

Directors of the Bridgeport Protective association will have an important meeting tomorrow night at the headquarters, Myrtle avenue. The chief business of the meeting will be the discussion of the report of Miss Hewitt, the superintendent of the home. Miss Hewitt will report on the activities of the association through the summer, during which the home has been taxed by unusually numerous calls.

Views of 3,000,000 Farmers To Be Heard At National Congress

W. L. AMES

Representing 3,000,000 farmers, the Farmers' National congress meets in annual session in Omaha, Neb., Sept. 28-Oct. 2, to discuss the country's enormous crop, the problems of the export of foodstuffs to the warring countries and other matters of interest to the agriculturists and the entire country. W. L. Ames of Oregon, Wis., is president of the Farmers' National congress; O. D. Hill of Kentucky, W. Va., is secretary and Levi Morrison of Greenville, Pa., is treasurer.

MANUFACTURER WILL DISCUSS CONDITIONS OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

"The Sunday School Superintendent" will be the subject of the address to be delivered by John A. Coe, Jr., of Waterbury at the supper-conference of the Sunday school superintendents and pastors this evening, at 8:30, in South church chapel. Over sixty men and women will be present at this gathering called by the Sunday School Council of Bridgeport. Mr. Coe in one of the vice-presidents of the American Brass Co., having general supervision of their factories in Waterbury, Torrington, Ansonia and Kenosha, Wis. He has been superintendent of the First M. E. Sunday school of Waterbury for nine years, during which time the attendance was increased from an average of 261 to 641 during the first six months of the present year. Last spring he was elected president of the New Haven County Sunday School Association, to which in addition to his other interests he is giving a great deal of energy and time.

Dr. John R. Brown will be the presiding officer. It is expected that this will be the inauguration of real Sunday school work in the city this winter. The council at its meeting last week held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms voted to co-operate with the religious survey to be taken in the city during October, and decided to put on the best course possible for the training of Sunday school teachers as a successor to the course conducted last year by Dr. Brown and Dr. Littlefield of New York city. A nominating committee for officers of the council was appointed, which consists of Rev. John P. Wagner and Miss A. P. Borland. They will report to a special meeting of the members of the council tonight preceding the supper. Mrs. C. H. Worthen, president of the ladies' society, has charge of the supper. The members of the meeting itself have been arranged by Miss Anne P. Borland of the Young Women's Christian Association and J. A. Wells of the Young Men's Christian Association, members of the Sunday School Council.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The engagement of Miss Iva Ruth King of Fairfield and Bridgeport to Thomas F. Wilmore, membership secretary of the local Young Men's Christian association, was announced at a party given on Saturday afternoon by the Misses Rachel and Mabel Pickett of Fairfield as a farewell to Miss King, who will leave within a few days for Washington, D. C., where she will teach at the National Cathedral school. Another feature of the party was a miscellaneous shower for Miss Ethel Donaldson, who will be a mid-October bride.

Miss King, who was a member of the class of 1912 at the Bridgeport High school, is well known in this city. She was graduated from Leland Powers School of Education in Boston, Mass., and a dramatic reader and made her formal bow to the public at a brilliant affair held at the Hotel Stratfield two years ago. She has been prominently identified with the Suffrage association of this state.

Mr. Wilmore has been in this city about a year, during which time he has made many friends. He coached and played the leading part in "The Melting Pot" at which the engagement of Miss King and Mr. Wilmore was again announced.

Miss Alice Seelye of the Arden, West Liberty street, announced her engagement to Roland Lane by sending Colonial bouquets of heliotrope and asters to her friends on Saturday afternoon. Miss Seelye is an alumna of the local High school. Mr. Lane, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lane of 378 East Main street, is one of the clerical force of the Bridgeport Brass Co. and is a member of the Criterion club.

Miss Elise Evers, a graduate nurse, who has served under the Red Cross society of Europe during the present war, held a large expression at the annual fall reunion of the Friday Evening Book club next Friday evening at the home of Miss Minnie Evers, 1429 North avenue. Miss Evers will also show a number of souvenirs of the war which she has brought back with her. Mrs. Egbert Marsh is president of the club, Mrs. Charles Dickson vice-president and Miss Maude Walker, treasurer.

Prof. Daniel C. Quilly, who is one of the most prominent teachers of the dance in this section of the country, will open his classes during the first week of October. Prof. Quilly has en-

Upholsteries New Cretonnes

Many of the new decorative fabrics are bold in design and rich in colorings. One may change the appearance of a room that has become a little tiresome or too familiar at small outlay.

All patterns are quite practical as well as artistic and the darker effects are especially pleasing.

Large peonies, tulips and rhododendrons blaze upon black grounds. Gorgeous cock-pheasants perch in impossible attitudes among the flowers. Crested cockatoos and parrots with green wings and red breasts swing in the vines.

The Colonial Chintzes are very neat in their combinations of softly shaded pinks and grays, dull greens and rose colors and are very suitable for quiet and restful rooms or boudoirs.

Unidentified Schooner Goes Ashore in Gale

Rockland, Me., Sept. 27.—An unidentified three-masted schooner, caught in a gale early today, was blown ashore on the northwest point of Otter Island in Mushet Ridge Channel. The crew from the White Head Coastguard Station and two tugs from Rockland, went to her assistance. Until they could send word ashore, no information about the safety of the crew was available. The schooner apparently was bound in to this port and probably was light. The wind averaged between 30 and 40 miles an hour all night and increased during the forenoon, attaining a velocity of 48 miles at 9 o'clock.

THE PRETTIEST FACE and the most beautiful bodies are often unfigured by an unsightly wart. It can easily be removed in a few days without pain by using CYRUS WART REMOVER. For sale only at The Cyrus Pharmacy, 415 Fairfield Ave.
